Since its inception, research has been the backbone of all operations at PPFAS. It was through rigorous and independent research that the firm initially carved out a space for itself in the highly competitive institutional broking segment. Over the years, this commitment to research has evolved into a core competency that continues to distinguish PPFAS in the fields of investment advisory and portfolio management.

PPFAS adopts a differentiated approach to investment research. Instead of producing lengthy reports based on publicly available data, the firm focuses on delivering actionable advice rooted in original thinking, deep insight, and sound business judgment. PPFAS is guided by the 'Law Of The Farm' which states that everything takes its own time and hastening the process will be counterproductive. This enables it to identify long-term opportunities often missed by conventional research.

A core pillar of investment research is the practical application of behavioural finance—the study of how psychological factors influence investment decisions. Investors frequently fall prey to emotional biases such as herd mentality, overconfidence, or loss aversion. PPFAS helps clients recognize and avoid these common pitfalls, while also seeking to capitalize on the irrational behaviour of the broader market. By combining independent research with behavioural insights, PPFAS aims to create sustainable value for its clients over the long term.

Leveraging on its nucleus of investment research, PPFAS was among the first set of firms which secured licenses to provide Portfolio Management Services (PMS) from the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI), in 1996.

E. Performance record of the FME

The FME is a first-time manager and does not have any experience in fund management activities. However, the PPFAS group has vast experience in serving substantial number of retail clients for more than three decades in India, being a SEBI registered portfolio management services and mutual fund entity. The FME believes that its board of directors and senior management have adequate experience of dealing/handling the proposed activity.

SECTION III: INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE, STRATEGY AND PROCESS

Particulars	Details
Investment Objective	The investment objective of the Scheme is to carry on the activities permissible to a Retail Scheme under the IFSCA FM Regulations and for this purpose to collect monies from the public for making, managing and disposing of Investments in accordance with the Applicable Laws including the IFSCA FM Regulations, the SEZ Act and the Trust Documents. The Scheme seeks to generate returns and long-term capital appreciation for the Investors that correspond to the performance of the Benchmark subject to tracking error (and as reduced by fees and expenses). To achieve this objective, the Scheme will primarily invest in ETFs, UCITs and similar instruments that track the performance of the Benchmark. There is no assurance that the investment objective of the Scheme will be achieved.
Category of Registration	The Scheme is launched as an open-ended Retail Scheme under the IFSCA FM Regulations.

Investment Strategy

In order to achieve its investment objective, the Scheme, acting on the advice of the FME, will primarily invest in ETFs and UCITS that are designed to replicate the performance of the Benchmark. These Investee Funds will be selected with the aim of providing exposure to the equity securities comprising the Benchmark, either through full replication or other index-tracking methodologies.

The FME will exercise its discretion in selecting such ETFs and UCITS based on a range of factors, including but not limited to tracking error, expense ratio, liquidity, counterparty risk, tax efficiency and regulatory compliance. The Scheme does not seek to outperform the Benchmark but rather to track its performance as closely as practicable, subject to tracking error and the costs associated with indirect investment through pooled vehicles.

The Scheme does not pursue active management of individual securities but relies on the performance and composition of the selected ETFs and UCITS. The allocation among such underlying investments may be adjusted from time to time in response to changes in market conditions, fund performance, or other relevant considerations as determined by the FME. For additional details, investors are advised to refer to the scheme documents of the underlying ETFs/UCITs in which this Scheme has invested or seeks to invest.

There can be no assurance that the investment objective of the Scheme will be achieved. The value of the Scheme's investments may be affected by fluctuations in the market value of the underlying securities, tracking errors of the underlying funds, or other risks inherent in collective investment schemes and index-tracking strategies.

Investment Methodology

In selecting appropriate ETFs and UCITS for investment, the FME will consider a range of qualitative and quantitative factors to ensure alignment with the Scheme’s investment objective. These include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Tracking error: The historical tracking error of the ETF or UCITS relative to the Benchmark will be assessed, with preference given to vehicles that demonstrate a consistent and minimal deviation from the index.
- Expense ratio: Emphasis will be placed on the selection of cost-efficient investment vehicles. Lower expense ratios are preferred in order to minimize the impact of fees and charges on the Scheme’s net returns.
- Liquidity: The liquidity of the ETF or UCITS will be a key consideration, with preference given to vehicles exhibiting high average daily trading volumes and tight bid-ask spreads, to facilitate efficient portfolio rebalancing and minimize transaction costs.
- Tax efficiency: The Scheme will generally favour investment in accumulating share classes, which reinvest income rather than distributing dividends, in order to enhance tax efficiency. In addition, consideration may be given to the domicile of the ETF or UCITS, with a preference for jurisdictions that benefit from favorable tax treaties, thereby potentially reducing withholding tax leakage on underlying dividend income.

Investment Process

The FME has a robust fund selection framework based on which it will evaluate various categories of funds which fit the investment strategy and objective of the Scheme. The framework has various parameters including but not limited to quality and track record of the (i) asset management company, (ii) fund manager, (iii) underlying scheme; (iv) risk assessment parameters like performance in various market cycles, etc. At each stage of the process, the primary objective is to generate returns that correspond to the performance of the Benchmark while minimizing the tracking error.

The investment process is expected to be as follows:

Note: Please note that the investment process described in this section is indicative in nature, the FME may change few/key aspects of the investment process based on prevailing market conditions as it may deem necessary.

Portfolio Allocation

The Scheme will invest 90% to 100% of its portfolio in units of ETFs and UCITs tracking the Benchmark. The Scheme may also hold investments of 0 to 10% in cash, and money market instruments for temporary deployment as permissible under the FM Regulations and to assist in its trading activity and market timing strategy. The Scheme will predominantly take exposure to developed economies including the United States of America.

SUBSCRIPTION / OFFERING PRICE	Initial Offer Period: During the Initial Offer Period, the Investors shall be admitted to the Scheme upon submission of the Investor’s Application Form along with the relevant ‘know your client’ documentation or upon receipt of such other documentation as requested by the FME and/or required under the Applicable Laws and along with subscription proceeds (exclusive of bank charges, if any). During the Initial Offer Period, the Investor shall be issued Units at the initial offer price of USD 100 (United States Dollars Hundred) per Unit in accordance with paragraph 9 titled ‘Initial Subscription and Additional Subscription’ in this “SECTION IV: PRINCIPAL TERMS OF THE SCHEME”. Units will not be allotted unless the FME is satisfied that the requisite documentation as mentioned above along with cleared funds (exclusive of bank charges, if any) in USD terms have been received by the Scheme no later than 5 (five) Business Days prior to the expiry of the Initial Offer Period or such period as the FME may deem fit (in respect of the Units subscribed for during the Initial Offer Period).

Expiry of Initial Offer Period: After the expiry of the Initial Offer Period, any Investor may subscribe to the Units of the Scheme on the relevant Valuation Day, after the execution of the relevant 'know your client' documentation or upon receipt of such other documentation as requested by the FME and/or required under the Applicable Laws and along with subscription proceeds (exclusive of bank charges, if any). The FME, at its sole discretion, may process applications received after the Cut-off Time, on a case-by-case basis.

After the expiry of the Initial Offer Period, Investors shall be issued Units at the applicable Long term post-Tax NAV calculated for the relevant Valuation Day on which the subscription application is considered for processing. For the avoidance of doubt, it is clarified that in the event the subscription monies are received in the Scheme's designated bank account on a Valuation Day ("Receipt Date") prior to the Cut-off Time, the Long-term post-Tax NAV applicable to such subscription shall be the Long-term post-Tax NAV as of the Receipt Date.

If the cleared funds are not received by the FME on the Receipt Date latest by the Cut-off Time, then the application will be held over to the Business Day following the Receipt Date and Units will then be issued to such Investor at the Long term post-Tax NAV as of the Business Day following the Receipt Date.

Notwithstanding the above, the FME may modify the abovementioned timelines and may accept an application for subscription of Units anytime at its own discretion.

It is clarified that the subscription amounts as received by the FME from the Investors (as the case may be) should be net of all bank charges and deductions and the net amount received by the Scheme should be equivalent to the minimum initial subscription applicable to the respective Class of Units, as prescribed under this Offer Document.

For avoidance of doubt, the Units shall be issued to the Investor for an amount which shall be equal to the Initial Subscription/Additional Subscription less the applicable stamp duty (payable in relation to the issuance of Units to the Investors, if any) and will thus reduce the amount actually invested by the Investors in Units, to this extent.

Such documentation should be received by the RTA via such email ID as may be specified with a scanned copy to the FME by email to customerservice_gift@ppfas.com or such email ID as specified by the FME from time to time, latest by the Cut-off Time. In case an investor has purchased Units on more than one day (either under the Initial Offer Period or through subsequent purchases) the Units purchased first (i.e. those Units which have been held for the longest period of time), will be deemed to have been redeemed first, i.e. on a first-in-first-out basis. In all cases, proceeds of redemption will be paid to the first-named holder (as determined by reference to the original Application Form). The FME may enable various online facilities/electronic modes for effecting redemptions. Calculation of NAV

Considering that the Scheme will be primarily investing in Investee Funds, the FME will rely on the NAV disclosed by the Investee Funds to arrive at the NAV of the Scheme with necessary adjustments of the expenses, taxes and fees of the Scheme. The NAV of the Investee Funds shall be in currencies other than USD, the applicable conversion rate shall also be used as per the Scheme's valuation policy to value the assets in USD.

The Scheme will disclose two post-tax NAVs to Investors in accordance with the Applicable Laws, as follows:

- “Long term post-Tax NAV”: This NAV will be computed assuming that the investment in underlying Investee Funds will be held for long-term, i.e., for a period of more than 24 months. Thus, tax rate of 12.5% (plus applicable surcharge and cess) would be used for computing Tax on unrealized capital gains in case of Long term post-Tax NAV. Tax rate is subject to amendment in applicable tax laws from time to time.

“Short term post-Tax NAV”: This NAV will be computed assuming that the investment in underlying Investee Funds will be held for short-term, i.e., for a period of less than 24 months. Thus, tax rate of 30% (plus applicable surcharge and cess) would be used for computing Tax on unrealized capital gains in case of Short term post-Tax NAV. Tax rate is subject to amendment in applicable tax laws from time to time.

The subscription to the Units of the Scheme after the expiry of the Initial Offer Period, including the purchase of Units and Additional Subscription will be at the Long term post-Tax NAV, while the redemption of Units of the Scheme (including compulsory redemption, transfer, transmission and switch) will be either at Long term post-Tax NAV or Short term post-Tax NAV, depending upon the period of holding of the Units of the Scheme by the Investors.

The following rules would apply in this regard:

- Investors redeeming up to 24 months from the date of subscription of Units: NAV on redemption will be Short term post-Tax NAV.
- Investors redeeming post expiry of 24 months from the date of subscription of Units: NAV on redemption will be Long term post-Tax NAV.

SECTION VI: CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

The Scheme will be subject to certain conflicts of interest that may arise in relation to the various activities carried out by the FME, its affiliates/group entities, directors, employees, shareholders and agents (collectively, the “Interested Parties”). Conflicts of interest may arise in relation to the various activities carried out by the Interested Parties vis-à-vis the activities of the Scheme. The FME has adopted certain policies and procedures intended to protect the interest of Investors in the Scheme against any adverse consequences arising from potential conflicts of interest. The protection of the Investors’ interests is the FME’s foremost priority. A conflict of interest situation may adversely affect the interest of the Investors, and an Investor may lose its investments due to such conflict of interest. The Investor acknowledges the existence of the risk arising out of a conflict of interest.

The Interested Parties shall exercise a standard of good faith in their dealings with the Scheme and any of its investments. The FME will be transparent and will make disclosures with respect to conflicts of interest situations that the FME determines may have arisen (or which seem likely to arise) with respect to any of the Interested Parties vis-à-vis the Scheme and the Investors (and/or any of the investments).

The FME maintains and operates effective organizational and administrative arrangements with the view of taking all reasonable steps to identify, continuously monitor and manage conflicts of interest. Some of the potential conflicts of interest situations and the policies of the FME for managing conflicts of interest are provided below. It is not intended to provide a comprehensive list of conflicts of interest or account of the processes and procedures which the FME adopts in connection with the management of conflicts of interest but is instead intended to be a statement of principles with which the FME seeks to manage foreseeable conflicts of interest.

All potential sources of conflicts of interests that the FME envisages during the operations of the Scheme, which includes conflicts arising at following levels:

- At the level of employee of the management entity

The employees of the FME will only devote so much of their time to the Scheme’s operations as is, in their judgment, reasonably required. The employees of the FME that provide services to the Scheme will have, in addition to their responsibilities towards the Scheme, responsibilities towards other funds, companies, projects and clients. Accordingly, they may have conflicts of interest in allocating management time and other resources amongst the Scheme and such other projects and clients. The employees of the FME may provide services to other entities/clients in the financial services space and will not work exclusively for the Scheme. The employees shall resolve any such conflict by allocating time (reasonably required in their best judgement) towards their obligations in respect of the Scheme and their other responsibilities towards other funds, companies, projects and clients.

- At the level of service providers of the Scheme

The attorneys, accountants, professionals and other service providers who offer services to the Scheme may, and in some cases do, also offer services to the Interested Parties.

- At the level of the FME

There cannot be any assurance that an investment opportunity that comes to the attention of the FME will be referred or otherwise made available to the Scheme. Investment opportunities identified by the FME may be suitable for the Scheme as well as other funds or investment vehicles managed or advised by the FME and/or an Interested Party and/or their respective affiliates. There could be multiple portfolios under the management of the FME or by partners who are Interested Parties of other entities of the group of the FME, thereby representing possibility of conflict of interest in allocating investment opportunities amongst the various portfolios. The FME will endeavour to resolve any such conflicts in a reasonable manner taking into account such factors as it may consider relevant including investment strategy and objectives, investment policy, sector focus, deal size, regulatory and tax considerations, etc. However, there can be no assurance that the Scheme shall be allocated any particular investment opportunities that are identified by the FME. Furthermore, the FME shall have the right, at its discretion, to allocate any investment opportunities to other funds.

- At the level of the Investor

The Investors of the Scheme, apart from investing in the Scheme, may also invest in the investments where the Scheme has also invested, at differential terms than that of the Scheme. Such investment of the Investors may conflict with the investment of the Scheme.

- At the level of members of various governance bodies

The members of the key investment team and the directors of the FME, in addition to their responsibilities for the Scheme, will have responsibilities for other funds, projects and clients. Accordingly, allocating management time and other resources among the Scheme and such other funds, projects and clients can be a challenge.

- At the level of the FME group entity, in relation to various schemes managed by FME

Inter-se different activities:

The FME and their affiliates may be involved in a variety of advisory, management and investment-related activities including management of other funds and intend to do so in the future. The Scheme shall not have any rights in or to any cash receipts or profits of the FME and any of their affiliates. The FME, and any of their affiliate/group entities may, from time to time, act as Fund Management Entities or advisers to other entities, companies or funds other than the Scheme. It is therefore possible that the FME and its affiliates may in the course of their business have potential conflicts of interest inter-se different activities.

Transactions with Interested Parties:

An Interested Party may receive certain fees for services performed for or on behalf of the Scheme or any other entity or any other person in which the Scheme or any other entity holds Investments, including, without limitation, fees relating to broking activity and other products and services provided, directly or indirectly, to the Scheme or any other entity or any other person in which the Scheme or any other entity holds Investments.

Investments in which Interested Parties have interests:

The Scheme, through its investments in the Investee Funds, may participate in investee entities in which Interested Parties have an existing investment or other interests, which may be on the same terms as the Investee Fund's investment or on different terms. In such cases, there could be a potential conflict between the interests of the Scheme and those of the Interested Parties. Any of the Interested Parties may deal in the securities/products (including handling assignment /advising-managing any portfolio/scheme consisting of such securities/products etc.) which are/may in future be a part of the Investment. The timing/pricing/buy-sell decision under the dealing by such Interested Parties can be different from that of the Scheme.

Market transactions involving Interested Parties:

The proprietary activities/trading or portfolio strategies of the Interested Parties, or the activities or strategies used for accounts managed by the Interested Parties or other customer accounts, could conflict with the transactions and strategies employed in managing the Scheme and affect the prices and availability of the securities and instruments in which the Scheme may invest. Such transactions, particularly in respect of proprietary accounts/trades or customer accounts, will be executed independently of the Scheme's transactions, and thus at prices or rates that may be more or less favourable. Issuers in whose assets or instruments the Scheme has an interest may have publicly or privately traded instruments in which an Interested Party is a shareholder. An Interested Party's trading activities will be carried out generally without reference to positions held by the Scheme and may have an effect on the value of the positions so held or may result in the Interested Party having an interest in the issuer adverse to that of the Scheme. The results of the Scheme's investment activities may differ significantly from the results achieved by an Interested Party for its proprietary accounts or accounts managed by them.

Some of the measures the FME will adopt to manage the identified conflicts are set out below. The FME will take reasonable care that, in relation to each identified conflict, it acts independently to avoid material risk to the Investors' interests.

- a) In managing the aforesaid conflicted transactions, the FME will have regard to its obligations under the Trust Documents pertaining to the Scheme and will act in the best interests of the Investors in the Scheme.
- b) The FME will be transparent with respect to conflicts of interest that the FME determines may have arisen in any transaction (or prospective transaction) between the Interested Parties and the Scheme.
- c) The FME will make efforts to see that any transaction involving a potential conflict of interest will be effected on terms that are not less favourable to the Investors in the Scheme than if the potential conflict had not existed. The FME will place significant emphasis on its strong compliance culture, and the efficient operation of systems and controls, to manage issues such as conflicts of interest.
- d) The FME will ensure that the interest of all the Investors is paramount and all personal interests, relationships or arrangements, including those of its affiliated companies/entities do not work against the Investors' interest.
- e) The FME will take appropriate measures intended to assure that it will not unfairly profit from any transaction between its affiliates/group companies/entities and the Scheme, and all such transactions shall strictly be done on an arm's length basis. The FME will use reasonable efforts to apportion or allocate business opportunities among persons or entities to or with which they have fiduciary duties and other relationships on a basis that is as fair and equitable as possible to each of such persons or entities, including the Scheme.
- f) The Interested Parties and their management personnel will devote so much of their time to the Scheme as is, in their judgment, reasonably required.

For further details, please refer to "SECTION IX: LEGAL, REGULATORY AND TAX CONSIDERATIONS".

By making an investment in the Scheme, prospective investors are deemed to have acknowledged the existence of the potential and/or actual conflicts of interest set forth above, and to have waived, to the greatest extent permissible under any Applicable Law, any claim with respect to, or arising from, the existence of any such conflicts.

SECTION VII: RISK FACTORS

AN INVESTMENT IN THE UNITS OF THE SCHEME INVOLVES CERTAIN CONSIDERATIONS AND ISSUES THAT MAY HAVE A BEARING ON SUCH INVESTMENTS. ACCORDINGLY, BEFORE DECIDING TO INVEST IN THE SCHEME, PROSPECTIVE INVESTORS SHOULD CAREFULLY STUDY THE SPECIFIC RISKS DESCRIBED BELOW TOGETHER WITH ALL THE INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THIS OFFER DOCUMENT, AND SEEK INDEPENDENT LEGAL, INVESTMENT AND TAX ADVICE. ADDITIONAL RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES NOT PRESENTLY KNOWN TO THE FME, OR THAT IT CURRENTLY DEEMS IMMATERIAL MAY ALSO HAVE AN ADVERSE IMPACT ON THE SCHEME'S PROSPECTS AND ACTIVITIES UNDERTAKEN BY THE SCHEME. THERE CAN BE NO ASSURANCE THAT THE SCHEME'S INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE WILL BE ACHIEVED, OR THAT AN INVESTOR WILL RECEIVE A RETURN ON ITS CAPITAL, OR THAT AN INVESTOR WILL NOT LOSE ALL OF HIS INVESTMENT IN THE SCHEME. THE FOLLOWING RISK FACTORS PRIMARILY DESCRIBE THE RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH INVESTMENTS MADE BY THE SCHEME. THE INVESTORS MAY REFER TO THE MATERIAL DOCUMENTS OF INVESTEE FUNDS FOR THE DETAILED RISK FACTORS THAT ARE APPLICABLE TO THE INVESTMENT BEING MADE BY THE INVESTEE FUNDS.

A. RISKS RELATED TO PORTFOLIO INVESTMENTS IN PARTICULAR

Nature of investments:

Investments in Investee Funds

The Scheme may invest in ETFs, which are investment vehicles that seek to replicate the performance of a specific index, commodity, or a basket of assets. While ETFs offer diversification and liquidity, such investments are subject to various risks including but not limited to market risk, tracking error, liquidity risk, and counterparty risk.

ETFs may not perfectly replicate the performance of the underlying index or assets due to factors such as fees, rebalancing policies, and market conditions. Additionally, the trading price of an ETF on the exchange may differ from its net asset value, leading to potential premiums or discounts. The Scheme's exposure to an ETF will also be subject to the risks associated with the underlying investments of that ETF. There can be no assurance that the investment objective of any ETF will be achieved or that it will perform in line with market expectations.

The Scheme may invest in UCITS, which are regulated investment funds established under the laws of the European Union. While UCITS funds are subject to regulatory standards on risk diversification, liquidity, and investor protection, investments in UCITS funds are nonetheless subject to a number of risks. These include market risk, liquidity risk, foreign exchange risk, and regulatory risk. The performance of a UCITS fund may deviate from its stated investment objective due to various factors, including fees, tracking error (if the UCITS is index-linked), or portfolio management decisions. Moreover, UCITS funds are domiciled in jurisdictions outside India and are governed by the laws and regulations of their home jurisdiction, which may differ materially from Indian laws and may limit the Scheme's ability to effectively monitor, enforce rights, or seek redress.

Further, investments in UCITS funds may expose the Scheme to operational risks, delays in redemption processing, and counterparty risk if the UCITS fund uses derivatives or engages in securities lending. There can be no assurance that the UCITS funds will achieve their investment objectives or generate positive returns.

Passive investment risk

The Investee Funds may not be actively managed and may be affected by a general decline in market segments related to its benchmark indices. The Investee Funds invest in securities included in, or representative of its benchmark indices, and the Investee Funds do not attempt to take defensive positions under any market conditions, including declining markets.

Achievement of investment objective

There can be no assurance that the Investee Funds will achieve their investment objectives. The value of Investments and the income therefrom may rise or fall as the capital value of the securities in which the Investee Funds invests may fluctuate. Therefore, Investee Funds' investment may be expected to fluctuate in response to changes in income or expenses.

Regulatory Risk

Investors should note that all the regulatory protections provided by their local regulatory authorities may not apply. As a result of such registrations, the Investee Funds may be subject, without any notice to the investors in the Investee Funds concerned (including the Scheme), to more restrictive regulatory regimes. In such cases the Investee Funds will abide by these more restrictive requirements.

Geographic Risk

If the Investee Funds focus their investments in issuers located in a particular country or geographic region, it may be subjected, to a greater extent than if its investments were less focused, to the risks of volatile economic cycles and/or conditions and developments that may be particular to that country or region, such as: adverse securities markets; adverse exchange rates; adverse social, political, regulatory, economic, business, environmental or other developments; or natural disasters.

Currency risk

The assets in which the Investee Funds is invested and the income from the assets will or may be quoted in currencies which are different from the Scheme's base currency. The performance of the Scheme will therefore be affected by movements in the exchange rate between the currencies in which the assets are held and the Scheme's base currency and hence there can be the prospect of additional loss or the prospect of additional gain to the investors greater than the usual risks of investment. The performance of the Scheme may also be affected by changes in exchange control regulations.

Investors should note that the Scheme's base currency is different from the currency of their home jurisdiction. In particular, Investors whose home currency is the Indian Rupee/INR will be exposed to currency exchange rate fluctuations between the Scheme's base currency and INR. Any depreciation in the value of the Scheme's base currency relative to the INR may adversely impact the effective returns to be realised by such Investors, irrespective of the underlying performance of the Scheme's assets. Accordingly, currency risk may result in reduced or negative returns upon redemption, and Investors are urged to consider the potential impact of foreign exchange volatility in light of their individual circumstances and consult with their financial and tax advisors prior to investing in the Scheme.

Market Liquidity Risk

The liquidity of the Investee Funds may be restricted by trading volumes and settlement periods across various jurisdictions where the Investee Fund/s are listed / traded. Different jurisdictions have different settlement periods, and such periods may be extended significantly by unforeseen circumstances. Delays and/or other problems in settlement of transactions could result in temporary periods when the investments comprising the Investee Funds are uninvested and no return is earned thereon. The inability of the FME to make intended purchase due to settlement problems could cause the FME to miss certain investment opportunities.

Volatility Risk

The Investee Funds' investment programs may involve the purchase and sale of derivatives, which are frequently valued based on implied volatilities of such derivatives compared to the historical volatility of their underlying securities. Fluctuations or prolonged changes in the volatility of the underlying securities, therefore, can adversely affect the value of derivative positions held by the Investee Funds, and correspondingly the Scheme.

Concentration of investments

The FME expects that at times the Scheme's portfolio may be somewhat concentrated when it comes to the number of Investee Funds. While the Investee Funds themselves would be well diversified in terms of exposure to global equity markets, but the Scheme may invest into a few Investee Funds. Hence, the return of the Scheme may be significantly determined by the performance of the Investee Funds.

Reliance on information provided

The FME may elect to invest in Investee Funds on the basis of information and data directly available to the FME. Although the FME evaluates all such information and data and seeks independent corroboration when it considers it appropriate and when it is reasonably available, the FME is not in a position to confirm the completeness, genuineness or accuracy of such information and data.

Improper conduct by Investee Funds

Although the FME intends to employ reasonable diligence in evaluating Investee Funds, no amount of diligence can eliminate the possibility that one or more issuers of such portfolio securities may engage in improper or fraudulent conduct, including improper accounting practices and valuations of assets.

Portfolio risk

The Scheme, through the Investee Funds, will have investments spread across industries, sectors and styles of investments. Poor performance by even a few of these investments could lead to adverse effects on the Scheme's overall returns. The Scheme could be subject to significant losses if it holds a large position in a particular investment that declines in value or is otherwise adversely affected, including default of the issuer.

Investment selection

Prospective investors will not have an opportunity to review the underlying investee companies or the terms of the Scheme's investments in the Investee Funds prior to investing in the Scheme. The likelihood that Investors will realise any gain on their investment depends on the skills and expertise of the FME, the managers of the Investee Funds and their respective investment teams who will make the decisions on behalf of the Scheme and Investee Funds.

Performance risk of investee companies

The investment performance of the Scheme will depend upon the performance of the Investee Funds, which will depend upon the performance of the underlying investee companies. There can be no assurance that the investee companies will achieve profitable operations. The performance of the investee companies and the value of the Investee Funds' interest in the investee companies may be adversely affected by numerous factors including, for example, (i) business, economic, and political conditions throughout the world; (ii) changes and advances in technology that may, among other things, render goods and services sold by the investee companies obsolete; and (iii) actual and potential competition from other companies and countries. Certain investee companies may need substantial additional capital to support growth or to achieve or maintain a competitive position. Such capital may not be available on attractive terms or at all.

Indirect investment in listed securities

The Scheme, through its investment in Investee Funds may make investments in listed securities. The fluctuation in the market price of listed securities of the portfolio companies is likely to have a direct bearing on the value of the Scheme's investment.

A substantial portion of the Investee Funds may be invested in equity or equity-related investments which, by their nature, involve commercial, financial, market and/or legal risks. While such investments offer the opportunity for significant capital appreciation, they also involve a very high degree of risk that can result in substantial losses. There can be no assurance that the FME will correctly evaluate the nature and magnitude of the various factors that could affect the value of such Investments. Prices and market movements of the Investments may be volatile, and a variety of other factors that are inherently difficult to predict, such as domestic or international economic and political developments, may significantly affect the results of the Scheme's activities and the value of the Investments. As a result, the Scheme's performance over a particular period may not necessarily be indicative of the results that may be expected in future periods.

Risk in relation to the investment money not being guaranteed returns

None of the Scheme, the Trustee or the FME or their respective affiliates, employees, directors, partners, managers, officers, and / or agents can provide assurance that the Scheme will be able to generate returns for the Investors or that the returns will be commensurate with the risk of investing in the Scheme or the underlying investee entities and the transactions described herein. There can be no assurance that the Scheme's investment objectives will be achieved or that there will be any return of capital or guaranteed returns. Therefore, an Investor should invest in the Scheme only if it can withstand a total loss of the investment in the Units.

Limited opportunities

The Scheme while pending may retain the same in cash or may invest in short-term or medium-term money market instruments or in fixed deposits or any such equivalent instruments. Such investments may substantially reduce the Scheme's overall return.

Indirect investment in equity shares

The Investee Funds may invest in equity shares of investee companies. Equity shares of a company entitle the holder to a pro rata share of profits of the company, if any, without preference over any other shareholder or class of shareholders, including holders of that company's preference shares, or other senior equity. Equity shares usually carry with them the right to vote and frequently an exclusive right to do so. Equity shares do not represent an obligation of the issuer, and do not offer the degree of protection of debt securities. The issuance of debt securities or preference shares by an issuer will create prior claims which could adversely affect the rights of holders of equity shares with respect to the assets of the issuer upon liquidation or bankruptcy. The market price for convertible bonds, which are typically bonds offering a stated interest rate that are convertible into equity shares at a specified price or conversion ratio, will tend to fluctuate in relationship to the price of the equity shares into which they are convertible.

Investments in new issues

The Investee Funds may purchase securities in an initial public offering of an equity security. If the Investee Fund places market orders during an initial public offering, it risks receiving an execution substantially away from the market or offering price. This risk may be significantly reduced if a limit order is utilized. However, it is possible that a limit order will not be executed. In determining if and for how long it should hold new issue securities, the Investee Fund must gauge whether other investors are likely to buy this stock on the secondary market and how long the attraction for the stock is likely to last as well as other factors. The market for these stocks is untested. Because the offering is on a first-time basis, there is generally no market information about the stock to help determine its value or its outlook.

Tracking errors and tracking difference risk

Tracking error is defined as the standard deviation of the difference between the daily returns of the underlying index and NAV of the Scheme, this may happen due to certain factors such as the fees and expenses of the Scheme, corporate actions, cash balance, changes to the underlying index, regulatory restrictions and lack of liquidity. Hence it may affect the Scheme's ability to achieve close correlation with the underlying index of the Scheme. The Scheme's returns may therefore deviate from its underlying index. The FME would monitor the tracking error of the Scheme on an ongoing basis and would seek to minimize the tracking error to the maximum extent possible.

Risks associated with convertible instruments

The Investee Funds may make investments in fully, partially or optionally convertible securities that may be converted into or exchanged for a specified amount of equity instruments of the same or a different issuer within a particular period of time at a specified price or formula. Such convertible securities entitle its holder to receive interest that is generally paid or accrued on debt until the convertible security matures or is redeemed, converted or exchanged. Convertible securities have unique investment characteristics in that they generally (i) have higher yields than equity, but lower yields than comparable non-convertible securities, (ii) are less subject to fluctuation in value than the underlying equity due to their fixed-income characteristics and (iii) provide the potential for capital appreciation if the market price of the underlying equity increases.

The value of a convertible security is a function of its "investment value" (determined by its yield in comparison with the yields of other securities of comparable maturity and quality that do not have a conversion privilege) and its "conversion value" (the security's worth, at market value, if converted into the underlying equity). The investment value of a convertible security is influenced by changes in interest rates, with investment value declining as interest rates increase and increasing as interest rates decline. The credit standing of the issuer and other factors may also have an effect on the convertible security's investment value. The conversion value of a convertible security is determined by the market price of the underlying equity. If the conversion value is low relative to the investment value, the price of the convertible security is governed principally by its investment value. To the extent the market price of the underlying equity approaches or exceeds the conversion price, the price of the convertible security will be increasingly influenced by its conversion value. A convertible security generally will sell at a premium over its conversion value by the extent to which investors place value on the right to acquire the underlying equity while holding a fixed-income security. Generally, the amount of the premium decreases as the convertible security approaches maturity.

A convertible security may be subject to redemption at the option of the investee company issuing it, at a price set out in the investment documents. If a convertible security held by the Investee Fund is called for redemption, the Scheme will be required to permit the investee company to redeem the security, convert it into the underlying equity or sell it to a third party. Any of these actions could have an adverse effect on the Scheme's ability to achieve its investment objective.

Availability and ability to acquire suitable investments

While the FME believes that many attractive investments of the type in which the Investee Funds may invest can be identified, there can be no assurance that such investments will be available when the Investee Fund commences investment operations, or that available investments will meet the Investee Fund's investment criteria. Furthermore, the Scheme and the Investee Funds may be unable to find a sufficient number of attractive investment opportunities to meet its investment objective.

Net Asset Value considerations

The NAV per Unit is expected to fluctuate over time with the performance of the applicable Investments. An Investor may not fully recover his initial capital/investment when he chooses to partially/completely exit from its Units if the NAV per Unit at the time of such exit is less than the subscription price paid by such Investor.

Indebtedness of the scheme

The Scheme may incur indebtedness subject to the Applicable Laws. Certain restrictions shall apply to incurrence of indebtedness by the Scheme. The Scheme may also use the Scheme's assets, respectively, to secure any permitted indebtedness. To that extent the rights of lenders making loans to the Scheme will be senior to those of the investors, and the terms of any borrowings may contain provisions that limit distributions to the investors or certain other activities of the Scheme. Hence, the possibility exists of a partial or total loss of the Scheme's capital.

Illiquidity of investments due to corporate actions

The gains/income of the Scheme is largely dependent upon the liquidity of the investments made by the Investee Funds. The Investee Funds may face potential risks on account of the illiquidity of any of its investments, which may arise from time to time, on account of various statutory or regulatory restrictions or restrictions pursuant to corporate actions undertaken by the investee companies which may include restrictions on transferability of the securities of such investee companies pursuant to applicable law. Any such restrictions on the disposition of the investee companies may disrupt the gains to and have an adverse effect on the net asset value of the Investee Funds investments and in turn, the NAV of the Scheme. Such restrictions may also reduce the liquidity of the Scheme, and may cause a delay or suspension in redemptions.

Investment Expenses

The investment expenses (e.g., expenses related to the investment and custody of the Investee Funds' assets, such as brokerage commissions, custodial fees and other trading and investment charges and fees) as well as other Investee Funds fees (e.g., investment management fee and operating expenses) may, in the aggregate, constitute a high percentage relative to other investment entities. The Scheme will bear these costs regardless of its profitability as per the limits defined in the Offer Document.

Investment selection

Prospective Investors will not have an opportunity to review the underlying investee companies or the terms of the Investee Fund's investments in such underlying investee companies. The likelihood that Investors will realise any gain on their investment depends on the skills and expertise of the FME and their respective investment teams who will make the decisions on behalf of the Scheme. The FME of the Scheme has a set investment framework with multiple criteria for selecting investments along with a risk management framework. The FME of the Scheme will undertake to ensure that the investments selected are aligned with the Scheme's risk and return objectives.

Exit strategy

The feasibility and terms of any proposed exit strategy for the Scheme in respect of its investments will depend in part on factors that are not within the control of the Scheme, at the time of the proposed disposition and the effect of applicable legislation and political and economic conditions. Consequently, the precise timing of the disposition of an investment and the manner of disposition are impossible to predict, and no assurance can be given that such disposition will be achieved on terms favourable to the Scheme.

Performance risk of investee companies

The investment performance of the Scheme will depend upon the performance of the underlying investee companies in which the Investee Fund invests in. There can be no assurance that these investee companies will achieve profitable operations. The performance of the investee companies and the value of the Scheme's interest in the investee companies may be adversely affected by numerous factors including, for example, (i) business, economic, and political conditions throughout India and the world; (ii) changes and advances in technology that may, among other things, render goods and services sold by the investee companies obsolete; and (iii) actual and potential competition from other companies and countries. Certain investee companies may need substantial additional capital to support growth or to achieve or maintain a competitive position. Such capital may not be available on attractive terms or at all.

Portfolio diversification risk

The Scheme will make investments in accordance with SECTION III: INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES, STRATEGY AND PROCESS and may not have a high degree of diversification in its investments by geographic region or asset type. Poor performance by even a few of these investments could lead to adverse effects on the returns received by the Investors. The Scheme could be subject to significant losses if it holds a large position in a particular investment that declines in value or is otherwise adversely affected, including due to default of the issuer.

Minority stake

The Investee Funds may be a minority investor in investee companies and as such may be unable to protect its interests effectively. Opposition of management or existing investors of investee companies, especially in the absence of an effective legal framework to protect minority shareholder's rights, could jeopardise the Investee Fund's strategy of acquiring small initial investments with a view to acquiring more significant stakes in the future. Further, over a period of time, an investee company may raise additional capital and in the event the Investee Fund does not participate in these follow-on rounds of funding, it may result in dilution of the stake held by the Investee Fund in that investee company.

Forward-looking and other statements

This Offer Document contains forward-looking statements and other statements concerning prior performance of FME and / or existing funds which information has neither been audited nor reviewed by accountants and is merely a good faith estimate. These statements reflect the FME's views with respect to future events and past performance. Actual results could differ materially from those contained in these statements as a result of factors beyond the Scheme's control. Investors are cautioned not to place undue reliance on such statements.

Asset class risk

The equity market and the prices of various stocks may fluctuate widely based on a variety of factors including global, India specific macro-economic conditions, and stock specific factors. Because the Scheme's performance is linked to the performance of equities which can be volatile at times, investors should consider purchasing units of the Scheme only as part of an overall diversified portfolio and should be willing to assume the risks of potentially significant fluctuations in the value of the Scheme.

Risk of news announcements

News announcements may impact the price of equities. These announcements may occur during trading and when combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility may suddenly cause an unexpected positive or negative movement in the price of the stock/equity. The Scheme's investments may be adversely affected by such news announcements.

Risk of rumours

Although the FME of the Scheme is expected to be wary and will not act based on rumours, rumours about the price of a stock at times float in the market through word of mouth, newspaper, websites or news agencies, etc. Such rumours may have an adverse impact on the Scheme's investments.

No assurance of returns

The Investors are not being offered assured returns or redemption, and there will be no recourse to the Trustee or the FME. Accordingly, the ability of the Scheme to pay returns on or redeem the Units will depend on the realisations from investments. The funds available for distributions on the Units, as well as upon termination/liquidation of the Scheme, will be limited to the balance of the Investments after meeting all liabilities and obligations.

System/network congestion in relation to trading of listed securities

Trading on the exchange is in electronic mode, based on satellite/ leased line communications, combination of technologies and computer systems to place and route orders. Thus, there exists a possibility of communication failure or system problems or slow or delayed response from system or trading halt, or any such other problem/glitch whereby not being able to establish access to the trading system/network, which may be beyond the control of and may result in delay in processing or not processing buy or sell orders either in part or in full. Investors are cautioned to note that although these problems may be temporary in nature, when there are outstanding open positions or unexecuted orders, these represent a risk because of the Scheme's obligations to settle all executed transactions. The Scheme could be subject to significant losses if it holds a large outstanding open position and defaults in settling the same.

Risk associated with unspecified investments

Other than as specifically set out elsewhere in this Offer Document, the investments that will be made by the Scheme, have not yet been identified. The activity of identifying, completing and realising attractive investments is highly competitive and involves a high degree of uncertainty. Because the investments have not been identified, potential investors (i) do not know what investments will be made, (ii) cannot assess the manner in which the team of the Scheme determines that the Scheme's investments will meet the Scheme's investment objectives, and therefore, (iii) cannot assess whether the investments will yield a positive return to the Scheme. As a result, investors face risks and uncertainties with respect to the selection of investments and will be relying on the ability of the team of the FME of the Scheme to find and close suitable future investments using the proceeds of this offering. No assurance can be given that the Scheme will be successful in obtaining suitable investments. The making of investments requires extensive due diligence activities and may require regulatory approvals prior to acquisition. When exercising its discretionary investment management powers, the team of the FME of the Scheme is reliant on information and data made available to it and/or its service providers. Although the team of the FME of the Scheme may evaluate such information and data and seek independent corroboration when appropriate and available, it is not in a position to confirm the completeness, genuineness or accuracy of such information and data. Such level of due diligence may not, however, reveal all matters and issues, material or otherwise, relating to prospective investments.

Even if the investments of the Scheme are consummated and successful, they may not produce a realised return to the investors, for a number of years. Accordingly, an investment in the Scheme should only be considered by persons who do not require current income and can afford a loss of their entire investment.

Risks of investments in foreign securities

Foreign securities investments may be affected by changes in currency rates or exchange control regulations, changes in governmental administration or economic or monetary policy (in the United States and abroad) or changed circumstances in geo-political dealings between nations. Investments in foreign securities will also occasion risks relating to political and economic developments abroad, including the possibility of expropriations or confiscatory taxation, limitations on the use or transfer of Scheme assets and any effects of foreign social, economic or political instability. In addition, changes or modifications in existing judicial decisions or in the current positions of the tax authorities of foreign countries, either taken administratively or as contained in published revenue rulings and revenue procedures (which changes or modifications may apply with retroactive effect), and the passage of new legislation, could lead to unfavourable treatment of certain overseas investments which could adversely impact the Scheme's returns.

Accounting standards; Due diligence

Generally accepted accounting standards and practices in other countries where the Scheme may make overseas investments in accordance with the IFSCA FM Regulations, may differ significantly from those practiced in other countries, which may affect the Scheme's evaluation of potential investments and ability to perform due diligence. The financial information appearing on the financial statements of a company may not reflect its financial position or the results of its operations in the way that they would be reflected if the financial statements had been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in other jurisdictions.

In addition, the scope and nature of the Scheme's due diligence activities in connection with its investments will be more limited than due diligence reviews conducted in more developed economies because, among the other factors listed in this paragraph (a) certain information is unavailable or prohibitively costly to obtain and/or (b) the information that is available is generally less reliable and less detailed than financial information that is typically available to investors in western countries. While the FME of the Scheme is expected to conduct due diligence in connection with each asset purchase, no assurance can be given that they will obtain the information or assurances that an investor in a more sophisticated economy would obtain before proceeding with an investment.

Risks of natural disasters and invocation of force majeure

A natural disaster or any other force majeure event may also impact the operations of the Scheme's investments. The nature and level of natural disasters and/or force majeure event cannot be predicted and may be exacerbated by global climate change. A portion of the Scheme's investments may rely on items assembled or produced in areas susceptible to natural disasters and/or force majeure event and may sell finished goods into markets susceptible to natural disasters and/or force majeure event. A major disaster, such as an earthquake, tsunami, flood or other catastrophic event including other force majeure events could result in disruption to the business and operations of the Scheme's investments. Such losses may be either uninsurable or insurable at such high rates that to maintain such coverage would cause an adverse impact on the related investments. If a major uninsured loss occurs, the Scheme could lose both its investments and anticipated gains from such affected investments in any investee entities.

Cyber Security Risk

As part of their business, the Scheme, FME, process, store and transmit large amounts of electronic information, including information relating to the transactions of the Scheme, and personally identifiable information of the Investors. Similarly, service providers of the FME, may process, store and transmit such information. With the increased use of technologies such as the Internet and the dependence on computer systems to perform necessary business functions, investment vehicles such as the Scheme, and their service providers may be prone to operational and information security risks resulting from cyber-attacks. In general, cyber-attacks result from deliberate attacks, but unintentional events may have effects similar to those caused by cyber-attacks.

The FME has procedures and systems in place that they believe are reasonably designed to protect such information and prevent data loss and security breaches. However, such procedures cannot provide absolute security. The techniques used to obtain unauthorised access to data, disable or degrade service, or sabotage systems change frequently and may be difficult to detect for long periods of time. Hardware or software acquired from third parties may contain defects in design or manufacture or other problems that could unexpectedly compromise information security. Network connected services provided by third parties to the FME may be susceptible to compromise, leading to a breach of the FME's or the Scheme's systems. The FME's or the Scheme's systems or facilities may be susceptible to employee error or Malfeasance, surveillance or other security threats. On-line services provided by the FME or the Scheme, or any of their service providers, to the Investors may also be susceptible to compromise. Breach of the FME's or the Scheme's information systems may cause information relating to the transactions of the Scheme and personally identifiable information of the Investors to be lost or improperly accessed, used or disclosed.

If the Scheme / its FME/ a service provider fails to adopt or adhere to adequate data security policies, or in the event of a breach of its networks, information relating to the transactions of the Scheme and personally identifiable information of the investors may be lost or improperly accessed, used or disclosed.

Cyber-attacks may interfere with the processing of investor transactions, impact the Scheme's ability to value its assets, cause the release of personally identifiable information of Investors or confidential information of the Scheme or impede or interrupt trading. Further, the loss of, improper access to, or improper disclosure of, the FME's or the Scheme's proprietary information may cause the FME or the Scheme to suffer, among other things, financial loss, the disruption of their businesses, liability to third parties, regulatory intervention, fines, penalties, financial losses, reimbursement or other compensation costs, additional compliance costs or reputational damage. The Scheme could also incur substantial costs for cybersecurity risk management in order to prevent any cyber-attacks in the future. Any of the foregoing events could have a material adverse effect on the Scheme and the Investors' investments therein.

Environmental Risk

The operations of underlying investee companies in which the Investee Fund invests may be subject to numerous statutes, rules and regulations relating to environment protection. There is the possibility of existing or future environmental contamination, including soil, seawater and groundwater contamination, as a result of the spillage of hazardous materials or other bio-medical waste that may result from the normal operations of the investee companies, and such events may have an adverse financial impact on the value of investee companies, the Scheme.

Under various environmental statutes, rules and regulations of the appropriate jurisdiction, a current or previous owner or operator of real property may be liable for non-compliance with applicable environmental and health and safety requirements and for the costs of investigation, monitoring, removal or remediation of hazardous materials. These laws often impose liability whether or not the owner or operator knew of, or was responsible for, the presence of hazardous materials. The presence of these hazardous materials on a property could also result in personal injury, property damage or similar claims by private parties. Persons who arrange for the disposal or treatment of hazardous materials may also be liable for the costs of removal or remediation of those materials at the disposal or treatment facility, whether or not that facility is or ever was owned or operated by that person. Indian courts have implemented the "Polluters Pay" principle in the field of environment law, whereby the person, company or industry responsible for the pollution, through the use or disposal of hazardous or toxic substance, either on, under or in a property, would be liable to restore the degradation of the property and the surrounding environment and compensate any victims thereby.

Any liability of investee companies resulting from non-compliance or other claims relating to environmental matters could have a material adverse effect on the value of such investments.

B. RISKS RELATED TO SCHEME STRUCTURE

Diverse investor group

The investors of the Scheme are likely to be a diverse group that may have conflicting investment, tax and other interests with respect to their investments in the Scheme. The conflicting interests of individual investors may relate to or arise from, among other things, the nature of investments made by the Scheme, the structuring or the acquisition of investments and the timing of disposition of investments by the Scheme. As a consequence, conflicts of interest may arise in connection with decisions made by the FME of the Scheme, including with respect to the nature or structuring of investments that may be more beneficial for one investor than for another investor, in particular with respect to investors' individual tax situations. In selecting and structuring investments appropriate for the Scheme, its FME will consider the investment and tax objectives of the Scheme and its investors as a whole, not the investment, tax or other objectives of any investor individually.

Lack of separate representation

The legal counsel to the Scheme does not represent the Investors, and no legal counsel will be retained on behalf of the Investors. There may exist other matters which would have a bearing on the Scheme and/or the Trustee or any of its affiliates upon which the legal counsel to the Scheme has not been consulted. The legal counsel to the Scheme does not undertake to monitor compliance of the Scheme or the Trustee or the FME with the terms set out herein, nor does it monitor compliance with Applicable Laws including the IFSCA FM Regulations. Additionally, the legal counsel to the Scheme relies upon information furnished to it by the FME and does not investigate or verify the accuracy or completeness of information set out herein concerning the Scheme, the Trustee or the FME.

The FME shall ensure compliance by the Scheme with the IFSCA FM Regulations and that Applicable Laws in respect of the operations of the Scheme are adequately complied with, and the statements furnished by the FME with respect to the Scheme are accurate and regularly updated.

Liability for return of distributions

In the event that the Scheme is otherwise unable to meet its obligations, the Investors may, under Applicable Law, be required to return distributions previously received by them including any wrongful payment to them.

While the nature of obligations that may be undertaken by the Scheme is contingent on a host of factors beyond the reasonable control of the FME, the FME shall endeavour to effectively plan such obligations of the Scheme to minimise any adverse impact on the Scheme's returns.

Reliance on service providers/intermediaries

The Scheme may either directly or through their respective trustees or FME, may engage a variety of service providers, including but not limited to those in the areas of legal, tax, accounting, banking, regulatory etc. In the event any such persons have any adverse development which affects the performance of their duties, or they breach any of the terms of their engagement, the Scheme may be posed with a risk which may be significant. Further, there can be no assurance that reliance on such service providers for their services (including opinions on specific matters) would be in the best interests of the Scheme and its Investment Objective.

In order to mitigate this risk, the Scheme or the Trustee or the FME, as the case may be, would endeavour to engage appropriate service providers for the concerned service, based on internal review and monitoring mechanisms. It is hereby clarified that the outsourcing of non-core business activities by the FME to third parties shall be in accordance with Applicable Laws.

Reliance on the FME

There can be no assurance that the Scheme will be able to implement its respective investment strategy and investment approach or achieve its investment objective or targeted returns or that an Investor will receive a return on its capital.

The judgments of the expected performance of the FME of the Scheme cannot be extrapolated from the past performance of the key managerial personnel of investment team. There can be no assurance given that the FME of the Scheme will be able to identify and evaluate all the risks associated with a proposed investment.

The success of the Scheme, will depend upon the ability of the FME to source, select, complete and realise appropriate investments. With specific reference to the Scheme, the FME will have considerable latitude in its choice of assets to invest in and the structuring of investments, subject to the investment parameters set forth in the Trust Documents.

Dependence on key personnel

The Scheme will be largely dependent upon the experience and judgment of its FME and its investment team for selection of suitable investments. The loss of one or more of the key members could have a material adverse effect on the returns of the Scheme. The key managerial personnel is not under any contractual obligation to remain with the FME of the Scheme for all or any portion of the term of the Scheme. The key managerial personnel will commit suitable amount of its business efforts as may be necessary to the Scheme, though it is not required to devote all of its time to the affairs of the Scheme. The time commitment of such key managerial personnel shall be allocated between the Scheme and other funds and advisory, consultancy and management activities conducted by them, as described earlier. The inability of the FME of the Scheme to attract and retain the required talent pool may also adversely affect the performance of the Scheme.

Thus, in making an investment decision, each Investor must consider that personnel associated with the FME of the Scheme may leave or may be terminated at any time, with or without cause, thus potentially adversely affecting the business activities of the Scheme.

Indemnification

The Trust Documents provide for indemnification of the indemnified persons for any and all actions, claims, damages, settlement payments, losses and liabilities, suits or proceedings, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative in the manner set forth in the Trust Documents.

Indemnification of the FME and its shareholders, directors, etc. as well as other parties, may impair the financial condition of the Scheme and its ability to acquire assets or otherwise achieve its investment objective or meet its obligations.

As mentioned above, in the cases of indemnification obligations arising on behalf of the Scheme, the FME shall ensure that all indemnification obligations are met in accordance with the Trust Documents and Applicable Laws in relation, thereto.

In the event the Scheme has indemnification obligations, the Scheme will not be obliged to make redemption proceeds to enable the Investors to pay their taxes as a result of such income or gain allocations (even if the Scheme has income or gains for tax purposes). In such event, the Investors will have to utilize other resources to satisfy tax liabilities and cannot resort to dividends declared by the Scheme to assist in satisfying such tax liabilities.

Disclosure of confidential information

The FME of the Scheme and/or certain investors may be required by law, regulation or otherwise to disclose certain confidential information relating to an investment or the Scheme. Such disclosure may affect the ability of the Scheme to realise or dispose of such investment or affect the price that the Scheme is able to obtain upon any disposition or may otherwise adversely affect the Scheme and/or investors in the Scheme.

To the extent that the FME determines that information that an investor would otherwise be entitled to receive could be disclosed by such investor as a result of such investor being subject to laws in the nature of freedom of information acts, or as a result of it being a public authority or owned by a public authority or subject to public disclosure laws, statutes, statutory instruments, regulations or policies and the disclosure of such information would not be in the best interests of the Scheme, the FME shall have the right not to provide such investor with certain information that such investor would otherwise be entitled to receive or have access to.

FME termination risk

Termination of the FME's appointment may occur pursuant to the terms of the Investment Management Agreement. Any termination of the FME's appointment as FME of the Scheme may have material adverse consequences for the Scheme in certain circumstances. Such consequences may include the acceleration of financing facilities made available to underlying investee companies or the triggering of a right for co-investors to acquire the Scheme's interest in a relevant investment where the terms of the relevant investment document provide for this.

Financial and tax situation risk

The results of the Scheme's activities may affect individual Investors differently, depending upon their individual financial and tax situations because, for instance, of the timing of a cash distribution or of an event of realisation of a gain or loss. The FME will endeavour to make decisions in the best interests of the Scheme as a whole, but there can be no assurance that a result will not be more advantageous to some Investors over others.

Limited recourse

The Investors shall have no recourse against the Settlor, the Trustee or the FME, as more particularly mentioned in the Indenture.

Recourse of the investors against the Settlor, the Trustee and / or the FME shall be subject to the Applicable Law.

Minimum corpus may be less than anticipated

There is a risk that the Scheme may obtain subscriptions totalling less, and potentially significantly less, than the minimum Corpus sought to be raised from investors. If the Corpus falls short of the minimum requirement as prescribed by the IFSCA FME Regulations from time to time, the Scheme may be forced to close down and return all money to the Investors.

C. REGULATORY RISK FACTORS

Legal considerations

Many of the fundamental laws in India and IFSC have only recently come into force, which increases the risk of ambiguity and inconsistency in their application, interpretation and enforcement. This risk is additionally increased as adequate procedural safeguards have often not been developed. Due to the developing nature of the Indian legal and regulatory system, laws often refer to regulations which have not yet been introduced, leaving substantial gaps and the regulatory framework is often poorly drafted and incomprehensible. These uncertainties can lead to difficulties in obtaining or renewing necessary licenses or permissions and can lead to substantial delays and costs for the companies subject to them, all of which can ultimately adversely affect the performance of the Scheme. Changes in laws and regulations (including accounting standards) (or in the interpretation thereof) occurring from time to time in India are possible and may worsen the legal and tax constraints within which the Scheme will operate and, as a result, may require structuring and financing alternatives to be identified and implemented and lead to increased legal costs and reduced returns. In particular, tax laws and regulations or their interpretation may change and there can be no assurance that the structure of the Scheme or its investments will be tax efficient. Further, India is subject to rapid changes in legislation, many of which are extremely difficult to predict. Existing laws are often applied inconsistently and new laws and regulations, including those which purports to have retroactive effect, may be introduced with little or no prior consultation. As such, the ability of the Scheme to secure the judicial or other enforcement of its rights may be limited.

The Scheme and FME will comply with all the relevant laws and regulations as and when they develop. The FME is also expected to monitor for any changes in law/regulations applicable to investee companies and assess its impact on its value. Accordingly, the portfolio will also be rebalanced.

Government approvals

Certain Indian governmental approvals, including approvals from IFSCA have been obtained for the Scheme to make investments. It is possible that such approvals may not continue in the future and though the FME of the Scheme expects the existing approvals to continue, the FME cannot be certain that these approvals will so continue. The Scheme will operate under Indian laws and securities regulations. If policy announcements or regulations are made subsequent to this offering, which warrant retrospective changes in the structure or operations of the Scheme, these may adversely impact the performance of the Scheme.

The Scheme and its FME are expected to ensure that they are in full compliance with and have all the necessary approvals required in accordance with Applicable Laws including by IFSCA (and any other regulator in charge), as and when any changes in policy or regulations are made.

Any investigations of, or actions against the Scheme, its trustee and the FME initiated by IFSCA, or any other regulatory authority may impose a ban of the investment activities of the Scheme or its trustee or the FME.

Enforcement risk

While Indian laws provide for specific performance of contractual obligations as well as claims for damages in the event of breach of contract, and property rights may be enforced through the Indian judicial system, laws regarding the rights of creditors and the obligations of purchasers or lessees of property are significantly less developed in India than in the other developed countries and may be less protective of rights and interests. It may be difficult to obtain swift and equitable enforcement of such laws or to obtain enforcement of a judgment in a local court.

Indian foreign exchange laws

Investments by Indian residents (individuals or entities) in the Scheme may be made under the Liberalised Remittance Scheme (LRS) prescribed by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) or under the Overseas Portfolio Investment (OPI) route as permitted under the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 and applicable rules, regulations, and directions issued thereunder.

Such investments are subject to evolving regulatory frameworks and restrictions, including eligibility criteria, sectoral limits, procedural conditions, reporting requirements, and caps on remittances/investments. Any change, clarification, suspension, or withdrawal of the LRS or OPI route by the RBI or other competent authority may adversely impact the ability of investors to make further investments in the Scheme, redeem their existing investments, or repatriate proceeds back to India.

Further, any non-compliance with the applicable foreign exchange control laws by the investors may expose them to regulatory action, penalties, or other consequences, which may also affect the Scheme's ability to accept or process such investments. The Scheme, FME, and its affiliates shall not be responsible for ensuring investor compliance with the applicable LRS or OPI guidelines.

Investors are advised to consult their own legal and regulatory advisors to determine their eligibility and compliance obligations before making any investment in the Scheme under the LRS or OPI route.

Risk mitigation measures for regulatory risks

While regulatory risks are beyond the control of the FME, the FME shall ensure that it attempts to the best of its abilities to ensure that the performance of the Scheme is as per the investment strategy and objectives of the Scheme, and will be proactive in adopting remedial measures in the face of regulatory risks to effectively mitigate the same, by either revising the investment strategy, deal flow, getting expert assistance, or legal assistance to realign investment aspirations and existing deals with the prevalent laws, regulations and tax provisions

D. GENERAL RISK FACTORS

Political, social and economic risks

The value of the Scheme's investments may be adversely affected by potential political and social uncertainties in India. Certain developments which are beyond the control of the FME of the Scheme, such as the possibility of nationalisation, expropriations, confiscatory taxation, political changes, government regulation, social instability, terrorist activities, diplomatic disputes or other similar developments, could adversely affect the Scheme's investments.

In addition, economy of various jurisdictions may differ favourably or unfavourably from other economies in several respects, including the rate of growth of gross domestic product, the rate of inflation, capital reinvestment, resource self-sufficiency, and balance of payments position.

The Scheme is not expected to obtain political risk insurance. Certain developments (such as the possibility of nationalisation, expropriations or taxation amounting to confiscation, political changes, Government regulation, social instability, diplomatic disputes or other similar developments), which are beyond the control of the Scheme and its FME, could adversely affect the Scheme's investments.

While the political and social risks are beyond the control of the FME of the Scheme, it is expected to ensure that the investments are planned based on an overall visibility of the tentative political and social risks that may arise, and for which there is adequate knowledge present in the public domain.

Investments in the United States

The Scheme may invest directly or indirectly in securities, funds, or other instruments domiciled in or linked to the United States. Such investments are subject to various risks, including economic, political, legal, and regulatory risks associated with the United States. These include, but are not limited to, risks arising from changes in interest rates, inflation, currency fluctuations, monetary and fiscal policy, and U.S. trade or foreign investment policies.

The U.S. market is subject to comprehensive regulatory oversight, primarily by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC), and other federal and state-level regulatory bodies. The Scheme may be subject to additional compliance and disclosure obligations under U.S. securities laws, including potential restrictions on marketing, transferability, or resale of securities, especially if the Scheme or any of its underlying investments fall within the jurisdictional ambit of U.S. securities laws or are deemed to involve "U.S. Persons" under applicable regulations.

In particular, the Scheme may be required to ensure that it does not engage in any activity that could trigger a requirement to register under the U.S. Investment Company Act of 1940 or require registration of its securities under the U.S. Securities Act of 1933. Any inadvertent non-compliance could result in regulatory scrutiny, restrictions on fundraising or investment activities, and adverse reputational and financial consequences.

Additionally, U.S. laws such as the Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) and anti-money laundering rules may impose significant reporting, compliance, and withholding obligations on the Scheme or its investors. Changes in U.S. tax policy, sanctions, data protection laws, or cross-border investment restrictions may adversely affect the Scheme's ability to invest in or exit from U.S.-linked assets.

There can be no assurance that investments in the United States will result in positive returns for the Scheme. Investors are advised to consider the inherent risks and evolving regulatory landscape in the United States prior to making any investment.

Global financial market volatility and financial instability

The fluctuations and uncertainties in the financial markets in the U.S. and elsewhere around the world could adversely affect the returns of the Scheme. Recently, concerns over monetary tightening, currency risks, inflation, energy costs, geopolitical issues and the availability and cost of credit have contributed to increased volatility and diminished expectations for the U.S. and world economy and the financial markets going forward.

Although economic conditions are different in each country, investors' reactions to developments in one country may have adverse effects on the securities of companies in other countries, including India. A loss of investor confidence in the financial systems of other emerging markets may cause increased volatility in financial markets. Financial disruptions may occur and could harm investee companies' business or their future financial performance, which will in turn affect the Scheme's investments and returns. It is not possible to predict how long current economic conditions will continue, whether the financial markets and economic conditions will continue to deteriorate or the magnitude of the long-term impact, if any, of such conditions on the financial markets, and economic conditions generally.

While the global financial market volatility and financial instability are beyond the control of the FME of the Scheme, it is expected to ensure that the investments are planned based on an overall visibility of the tentative global financial market volatility and financial instability, that may arise, and for which there is adequate knowledge present in the public domain.

Risk of sanctions

Sanctions may be imposed by other countries on trade and this may have an adverse impact on the value of underlying investee companies in which the Scheme invests.

Monitoring (global events/foreign policy/macro news) relevant to invested companies will be incorporated into the Scheme's daily operations. The FME of the Scheme will evaluate any such event and take the appropriate action needed for maximising investor value and meeting the Scheme's objectives.

Enforcement of foreign awards in India

The Indian legal system has certain limitations in respect of enforcement of foreign awards in India (IFSC). Courts in India including GIFT City may not enforce a provision of securities laws of any jurisdiction that is either penal in nature or contrary to public policy. An action brought pursuant to a public or penal law, the purpose of which is the enforcement of a sanction, power or right at the instance of the state in its sovereign capacity, is unlikely to be entertained by Indian courts. Specified remedies available under any jurisdiction, if they are considered to be contrary to Indian public policy, would not be available under Indian law or enforceable by Indian courts.

Further, foreign judgments rendered by a superior court in any country or territory outside of India may only be recognised in India if such territory has been notified and/or declared to be a reciprocating territory by the Government of India. The enforceability of such judgments is subject to certain exceptions under the Civil Procedure Code as regards its conclusiveness on any matter directly adjudicated upon.

If a judgment of a foreign court is not enforceable, a suit would have to be filed based on the judgment.

It is unlikely that a court in India would award damages on the same basis as a foreign court if an action were brought in India. Furthermore, it is unlikely that an Indian court would enforce a foreign judgment if in its view, the amount of damages awarded are excessive or inconsistent with public policy or practice in India. It is difficult to predict whether a suit brought in an Indian court will be disposed of in a timely manner or be subject to untimely delay.

Since, the level of legal and regulatory protections customary in countries with developed securities markets to protect investors and securities transactions, and to ensure market discipline, may not be available in India, enforcement by the Scheme of civil rights under the laws of a jurisdiction other than India may be adversely affected considering that they may have significant assets in India and the enforcement of the rights against such assets in India will be subject to the delays and other limitations of the Indian judicial system.

Segregation of assets

The Trustee has a fiduciary duty to ensure segregation of assets of any other funds which are held in trust or may be held so by it from the assets of the Scheme. While the liabilities shall be segregated on a Class-by-Class basis, it should be noted that the assets and liabilities of each Class within the Scheme are subject to apportionment of assets and liabilities between Classes and are not segregated from those of other Classes. However, it may be possible that in the case of a third-party suit or regulatory action against the Trustee with respect to the liability of any other such aforementioned Scheme or under any other circumstances, the Trustee may not be able to protect the assets of the Scheme against such third party suit or regulatory action and would not maintain segregation of assets of the Scheme.

E. CURRENCY RELATED RISKS

Impact of currency fluctuation from investments by the Scheme

The Scheme's assets will be ultimately invested in securities that are primarily quoted or denominated in USD. The value of the Scheme's assets and the liquidity of the Units may also be affected by developments relating to exchange control regulations. There can be no assurance that future restrictions on the ability to exchange USD to such other foreign currency, and to repatriate income and capital will not adversely affect the ability of the investee companies to repatriate their income and capital. Furthermore, in the past the exchange rates have been subject to significant fluctuations and there can be no assurance that they will be stable. The USD may experience volatility and may further depreciate. The manager of the Scheme may adopt suitable currency hedging strategies to mitigate the risk. While such hedging arrangements would impose additional cost upon the Scheme, they may not necessarily yield the desired benefit.

F. TAX RISKS

- Tax risk associated with the Scheme

There are certain aspects such as a characterization of income, status of the Scheme, etc., that could impact taxation of the Scheme.

- Tax risk associated on exercise of redemption option

In an event, if a redemption option is exercised by only certain specific Investors the following implication could arise.

The Scheme proposes to reduce tax component on unrealised gains and adjust the same from the NAV of the redeeming Investor. This could have an impact on the amount actually distributed to the contributor. Tax on unrealised income could be paid by the Scheme/ Trust, if required under the Applicable Laws.

- Risk associated with the change in Tax laws

The Tax laws and its interpretation relevant to the Scheme are subject to change, and Tax liabilities could be incurred by Investors as a result of such changes. The Tax consequences of an investment in the Scheme are complex. Further, the information relating to the Indian taxation legislation contained in the Offer Document is based on Indian domestic taxation law along with rules and regulations made thereunder and the judicial and administrative interpretations thereof, which are subject to the change or modification by subsequent legislative, regulatory, administrative or judicial decisions. Any such changes, which could also be retroactive, could have an effect on the validity of the information stated herein.

Accordingly, Investors in the Scheme are subject to a number of risks related to Tax matters and are strongly urged to consult their independent tax advisors with specific reference to their own situations.

Please refer to the “Taxation of the Scheme” under “SECTION IX: LEGAL, REGULATORY AND TAX CONSIDERATIONS” of the Offer Document for key tax risks associated to the Scheme and its investors.

G. RISK MITIGATION STRATEGIES

Risk Type and Description	Risk mitigants / management strategies
Tracking error: The performance of the Scheme may not be commensurate with the performance of the benchmark index on any given day or over any given period, referred to as tracking error.	The FME would monitor the tracking error of the Scheme on an ongoing basis and would seek to minimize tracking error to the maximum extent possible. The FME will endeavor to maintain low cash levels to minimize tracking error.
Liquidity risk: The liquidity of the Scheme's investments is inherently restricted by the trading volumes in the securities in which the Scheme invests as per the underlying index.	As such the Scheme would look to invest in ETFs or UCITs which has relatively large corpus vis-à-vis the size of the fund and have had good liquidity in the past. The Scheme will try to ensure that the average daily trading volumes of the Investee Funds are significantly higher than the average redemptions anticipated, thus reducing liquidity risk as well as impact cost on transactions.
Market risk: The Scheme is vulnerable to movements in the prices of securities invested by the Scheme, which could have a material bearing on the overall returns of the Scheme	Market risk is inherent to an equity scheme. Being a passively managed scheme, it will invest in the securities included in its underlying index.

IFSCA (FUND MANAGEMENT) REGULATIONS 2025

1) Brief overview of IFSC (Fund Management) Regulations, 2025

The International Financial Services Centre Authority has framed IFSCA (Fund Management) Regulations, 2025 to provide comprehensive framework for various activities related to fund management. The IFSCA FM Regulations requires the fund management entities to be registered with IFSCA based on the activities to be carried out by such fund management entities in IFSC. Further, the IFSCA FM Regulations provides for conditionalities for launch of schemes viz. venture capital funds, retail schemes, restricted schemes for non-retail investors, managing of special situation funds, investment trusts, family office funds and launch of products like PMS, render advisory services.

FME is registered as Registered FME (Retail)

I. Taxation of the Scheme

The Scheme is settled under the Indian Trusts Act, 1882 with the name ‘Parag Parikh IFSC NASDAQ 100 Fund of Fund’ (“Scheme”) for the purpose of making investments permissible for an open-ended retail scheme, in accordance with Applicable Law and its investments objectives and is managed by PPFAS Alternate Asset Managers IFSC Private Limited, which is registered with IFSCA as a Registered Fund Management Entity (Retail). The Indenture of the Scheme is registered under the Registration Act, 1908. The Scheme is categorised as a Retail Scheme under the IFSCA FM Regulations and is proposing to pool monies from resident Indian investors.

Currently, there are no special provisions under the IT Act that specifically govern the taxability of Retail Scheme in IFSC which pools money from resident Indian investors.

In order to promote fund businesses in IFSC, special tax regime has been provided under the IT Act for Retail Scheme which has been granted certificate and satisfies the conditions laid down in FM Regulations issued by IFSCA which is set up in IFSC and with all unit holders (except for units held by manager / sponsors) being non-resident. Such Scheme under the IT Act is being referred to as Specified fund.

In the present case, the Scheme will have only resident investors (including manager/ sponsor) at all the time. Therefore, it will not be regarded as Specified Fund and hence, not eligible to claim exemption granted under section 10(4D) of the IT Act.

In such a scenario, the Scheme could be taxed per the general principles of taxation of trusts viz. sections 161 to 164 of IT Act or sections dealing with revocable transfers (sections 61 to 63 of IT Act) (subject to discussion hereunder).

➤ Residential Status of the Scheme

The basis of charge of Indian income-tax depends upon:

- the residential status of the taxpayer during a tax year; and
- the nature of the income earned.

The Indian tax year runs from April 01 until March 31.

A person who is an Indian tax resident is liable to tax in India on worldwide income, subject to certain tax exemptions, which are accorded under the provisions of the IT Act. A person who is treated as non-resident for Indian income-tax purposes is generally subject to tax in India only on such person's Indian-sourced income or income received in India.

The Scheme would be regarded as a 'resident' for the purposes of IT Act.

➤ Taxation per the IT Act

The taxation of a trust depends on the nature of a transfer/contribution by investor (i.e. revocable or irrevocable) and whether beneficiaries and their respective interests in the Scheme are identified/determined upfront or not (i.e. determinate or indeterminate trust) and the nature of activity undertaken by the Scheme (i.e. whether any business activity undertaken or not).

The Scheme seeks to organize itself such that relying on certain principles laid down in certain income-tax rulings, there may be basis for it to be regarded as an irrevocable determinate trust. However, the risk of the tax/ appellate authorities seeking to treat the Scheme as an indeterminate trust cannot be ruled out.

Revocable v. Irrevocable transfer

A transfer of an asset is considered revocable when the transfer document contains a provision for:

- (i) the re-transfer, directly or indirectly, of the whole or any part of the income from the asset to the transferor, or
- (ii) in any way gives a right to the transferor to reassume power, directly or indirectly, over the whole or any part of the income or asset.

If the capital contributions to the Scheme are considered to be revocable in nature within the meaning of sections 61 to 63 of the IT Act, the beneficiaries would be liable to tax on the income attributable to such revocable contributions.

If the transfer is regarded as irrevocable, then the tax treatment ought to be determined on the basis whether the respective shares of the beneficiaries are determinate or not.

In case the Scheme is considered as irrevocable vis-à-vis its beneficiaries and determinate

- a. Per Explanation to section 164 of the IT Act, a trust is considered to be a determinate trust if it fulfils the following two conditions:
 - (i) Beneficiaries of the income arising to the trust are identifiable on the date of the indenture of trust; and
 - (ii) The individual share of income of each beneficiary is ascertainable as on the date of the indenture of trust.
- b. Based on a ruling rendered by the Authority for Advance Rulings (“AAR”) in the case of *AIG*³, a trust may be considered as determinate where the instrument of trust specifies the categories of beneficiaries in the trust and prescribes a methodology for the determination of each beneficiary. However, it is pertinent to note that a ruling rendered by the AAR is binding only in case of applicant who sought the ruling and in respect of the transaction for which the ruling was sought. The above view has also been upheld by the Hon’ble High Court of Karnataka in the case of *CIT vs. India Advantage Fund VII*⁴. It is pertinent to note that the High Court decisions (unless subsequently reversed) are binding on all the tax authorities and tribunals functioning under the jurisdiction of the High Court.
- c. Further, an income-tax ruling has held that in order to form a determinate trust, the beneficiaries should be known, and the individual shares of those beneficiaries should be ascertainable as on the date of trust deed.
- d. Separately, the Central Board of Direct Taxes (“CBDT”) had issued a circular no. 13/2014 dated 28 July 2014, in connection with the taxation of AIFs having status of non-charitable trusts under the IT Act. Per the aforesaid circular, in the situation where the trust deed either does not name the investors or does not specify their beneficial interests, provisions of section 164(1) of the IT Act would come into play and the entire income of such a Scheme will become liable to be taxed at the Maximum Marginal Rate (“MMR”) in the hands of the trustees of such AIFs in their capacity as ‘Representative Assessee’. Further, per the said circular, in such cases, provisions of section 166 of the IT Act will not be invoked in the hands of the investors, as corresponding income has already been taxed in the hands of the ‘Representative Assessee’ in accordance with section 164(1) of the IT Act. Further, the circular also states that, in the cases of Scheme where the names of the beneficiaries and their interests in the Scheme are determined i.e. stated in the trust deed, the tax on whole of the income of the Scheme (consisting of or including profits and gains of business), would be leviable upon the trustees of such AIFs, being ‘Representative Assessee’ at the MMR in accordance with section 161(1A) of the IT Act. Further, the circular clarified that the above clarification does not apply in the area falling in the jurisdiction of a High Court which has taken or takes a contrary decision on the issue. It is pertinent to note that CBDT circulars are binding on the revenue authorities but not on the assessee. Further, CBDT Circulars cannot enlarge/alter provisions of the IT Act.
- e. However, recently Hon’ble Delhi High Court in the case of *Equity Intelligence AIF Trust*⁵, applied the doctrine of impossibility to read down CBDT Circular No. 13/2014 dated 28 July 2014, finding it inconsistent with SEBI Regulations for AIF. The Circular requires the AIF to mention the investor names and their beneficial interests in the original trust deed for ‘determinate trust’ classification under the IT Act. On the other hand, the SEBI Regulations prohibit any investment to be received before obtaining SEBI registration certificate. Accordingly, naming investors or their share in the trust deed which is required at the time of registration would have violated these

⁵ Equity Intelligence AIF Trust v. CBDT & Anr. (W.P. (C) 9972/2024 & CM APPL Nos. 40840/2025, 69940/2024 & 1448/2025)

Regulations. Hon'ble Delhi High Court while addressing the inconsistency held that Category-III AIFs cannot be deemed indeterminate trusts solely due to the absence of investors' identity and their share mentioned in the trust deed on the execution date and should not be taxed at the Maximum Marginal Rate ("MMR"). The above principle likely to hold good in case of the Scheme which is required to seek registration under the IFSCA FM Regulations.

- f. As mentioned above, whilst the Scheme seeks to organize itself such that relying on certain principles laid down in certain tax rulings, there may be basis for it to be regarded as a determinate trust, the risk of the tax authorities seeking to treat the Scheme as an indeterminate trust cannot be ruled out.
- g. In case, the Scheme qualifies as a determinate trust, the trustee of the Scheme is assessed as a 'Representative Assessee' of the beneficiaries under section 161 of the IT Act. Tax is levied on and payable by trustee in the like manner and to the same extent as it would be leviable on the beneficiaries i.e., the manner, rates and mechanism of taxation as applicable to the beneficiaries apply vis-à-vis share of income of each beneficiary.
- h. Once the income is taxed in the hands of the trustee (in its capacity as a 'Representative Assessee'), no further tax implications on subsequent distribution of the said income by the trustee in the hands of the beneficiaries (subject to Minimum Alternative Tax ('MAT') implications discussed below for corporate beneficiaries) arise. However, it should be noted that the tax authority may assess the income directly in the hands of beneficiaries under section 166 of the IT Act, if not already assessed in the hands of trustee. Even if the tax authority tax the beneficiaries directly, the taxes, if any, paid by the trustee in their capacity as a representative assessee, could in principle, be available as credit against the tax liability, if any, of the beneficiaries. There may also be additional tax liability for corporate entities paying taxes per MAT provisions.
- i. If any portion of the income of the trust is characterised as business income, the whole of the income of the trust could become chargeable to tax in the hands of the trustee at MMR under the provisions of section 161(1A) of the IT Act subject to allowability of any deductible expenses of the trust.

In case the Scheme is considered as irrevocable vis-à-vis its beneficiaries and indeterminate

- a. In case, the Scheme does not meet the criteria of a determinate trust as specified above, it would be considered as a discretionary (indeterminate) trust and the trustee of the Scheme could be taxable at MMR under section 164 of the IT Act.
- b. Relying on judicial precedents, it could be possible to take a view that concessional rates of capital gains tax shall gain precedence over MMR prescribed under section 164 of the IT Act. However, the possibility of the Indian Tax authorities taking a contrary view cannot be ruled out.

➤ Various streams of income of the Scheme

Basis the investment strategy of the Scheme, it will primarily invest in ETFs and UCITS that are designed to replicate the performance of the Benchmark (i.e., UCITs will invest in underlying listed offshore equity). The Scheme would primarily earn income through the Scheme from the following streams:

- a. Interest income;
- b. Dividend income;
- c. Gains arising on transfer/ redemption of securities (i.e., ETFs and UCITs);
- d. Furthermore, the investors of the Scheme would primarily earn gains arising on transfer/ redemption of units of the Scheme

The tax implications with respect to each of the above-mentioned income streams are discussed as under.

a. Interest income and dividend income

Interest and dividend income earned by	Tax rate for domestic Beneficiaries
Companies (Refer Note 1)	30%/ 25%/ 22%/ 15%
Firms / LLPs	30%
Others, including the Scheme (Refer Note 2)	As per the applicable slab rates, maximum being 30%

The above-mentioned tax rates are exclusive of applicable surcharge and health and education cess.

Note 1: For FY 2025-26, domestic companies are taxed at 25% plus applicable surcharge and cess where its total turnover in the previous year 2022-23 is up to INR 400 crores. Existing companies may opt for 22% (plus 10% surcharge and cess) under section 115BAA, and new manufacturing companies may opt for 15% (plus 10% surcharge and cess) under section 115BAB, subject to prescribed conditions.

Considering that in the present case the Scheme is open ended scheme, the trustee or the Scheme may decide to discharge taxes on interest and dividend income at MMR (i.e., 30% plus applicable surcharge and cess) irrespective of the status of underlying resident investors.

b. Gains arising on transfer/ redemption of securities (i.e., ETFs and UCITs)

Gains arising from the transfer of securities may be treated either as ‘capital gains’ or as ‘business income’ for tax purposes, depending upon whether such securities are held as a capital asset or trading asset (i.e. stock-in-trade). Traditionally, the issue of characterisation of gains (whether taxable as business income or capital gains) has been a subject matter of litigation with the tax authorities. There have been judicial pronouncements on whether gains from transactions in securities should be taxed as ‘business profits’ or as ‘capital gain’. However, these pronouncements, while laying down certain guiding principles have largely been driven by the facts and circumstances of each case. Also, the CBDT has provided guidance (vide its Instruction No. 1827, dated August 31, 1989 and Circular No. 4/2007, dated June 15, 2007) in respect of characterization of gains as either capital gains or business income.

The Fund intends to organize itself in a manner that it complies with the conditions and parameters mentioned in the CBDT Circular and instructions such that the income from sale of securities in the investee companies be generally categorized as capital gains. However, the possibility of the tax authorities seeking to treat such income as business income cannot be ruled out.

Further, for determining the tax treatment of income arising from transfer of unlisted shares for which no formal trading markets exists, the CBDT had issued an instruction dated 2 May 2016 where it has been decided that income arising from transfer of unlisted shares is considered as ‘capital gains’, irrespective of the period of holding, with a view to avoid litigations / disputes and to maintain uniform approach. It is, however, clarified that the above would not be necessarily applied in the situations where:

- i. the genuineness of transactions in unlisted shares itself is questionable; or
- ii. the transfer of unlisted shares is related to an issue pertaining to lifting of corporate veil; or
- iii. the transfer of unlisted shares is made along with the control and management of underlying business and the Assessing Officer would take appropriate view in such situations.

• If the gains are characterised as capital gains

Per section 45 of the IT Act, any profits or gains arising from the transfer of capital assets are chargeable to income tax under the head ‘capital gain’.

Section 48 of the IT Act provides that income chargeable as capital gains would be computed as the difference between the full value of the consideration received or accrued on the transfer of the capital asset and the cost of acquisition / indexed cost of acquisition (as applicable) of such asset plus expenditure incurred wholly and exclusively in connection to such transfer. Under the IT Act, capital gains will be taxable in the hands of the taxpayer depending on the nature of securities and the period of holding. The capital gains would be classified as long-term or short-term, depending upon the period of holding of the assets.

Type of instrument	Period of holding	Characterisation
Listed securities on recognised stock exchange in IFSC (i.e. bonds) (Refer Note 1)	More than 12 months	Long-term Capital Asset
	12 months or less	Short-term Capital Asset
Unlisted securities including overseas equity securities, units, overseas Funds and ETFs (whether listed outside India or not) [other than Unlisted Debentures and Bonds] (Refer Note 1)	More than 24 months	Long-term Capital Asset
	24 months or less	Short-term Capital Asset
Unlisted Debentures and Bonds (Refer Note 2)	-	Deemed Short-term Capital Asset

Note 1: The Finance Act, 2023 introduced section 50AA of the IT Act. As per the provisions of section 50AA, capital gains arising on transfer / redemption / maturity of a specified mutual fund (acquired on or after the 1st day of April, 2023) or Market Linked Debenture are deemed to be short-term capital gains (irrespective of the period of holding).

“Market Linked Debenture” means a security by whatever name called, which has an underlying principal component in the form of a debt security and where the returns are linked to market returns on other underlying securities or indices and include any security classified or regulated as a Market Linked Debenture by the Securities and Exchange Board of India.

"Specified Mutual Fund" was defined to mean a Mutual Fund by whatever name called, where not more than thirty five per cent of its total proceeds is invested in the equity shares of domestic companies.

However, the Finance Act, 2024 amended the definition of “Specified Mutual Fund” (with effect from AY 2026-27) to mean that:

- (a) a mutual Fund by whatever name called, which invest more than sixty five percent of the total proceeds in debt and money market instrument or;
- (b) a fund which invests sixty five percent or more of its proceeds in units of fund referred to in clause (a) above

For this purpose, "debt and money market instruments" shall include any securities, by whatever name called, classified or regulated as debt and money market instruments by the Securities and Exchange Board of India.'

Note 2: As per the amendments in section 50AA of the Act vide the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2024, gains on transfer or redemption or maturity of unlisted bond or an unlisted debenture which is transferred or redeemed or matures on or after 23 July, 2024 shall also be considered as deemed short term capital gains irrespective of the period of holding.

Taxability of capital gains under the IT Act is as follows:

Type of instrument	Long-term capital gains	Short-term capital gains
--------------------	-------------------------	--------------------------

Listed securities on recognised stock exchange in IFSC (i.e. bonds)	12.5% (without indexation)	30%/ 25%/ 22%/ 15% (refer to Note 1 mentioned under the head 'Interest and Dividend Income
Unlisted securities (including overseas equity securities, units, overseas funds and ETFs [whether listed outside India or not] other than Unlisted Debentures and Bonds)
Unlisted Debentures and Bonds	Not Applicable (As it would be deemed Short Term as discussed above)

The above-mentioned tax rates are exclusive of surcharge and health and education cess.

Considering that in the present case the Scheme is open ended scheme, the trustee or the Scheme may decide to discharge taxes on short term capital gains at MMR (i.e., 30% plus applicable surcharge and cess) irrespective of the status of underlying resident investors.

- If the gains are characterised as business income

If the gains arising from the transfer of securities are categorised as business income of the Scheme, the whole of the income of the Scheme (net of eligible expenses) is taxable at MMR under the provisions of section 161(1A) of the IT Act which are applicable to the Scheme being a determinate trust.

c. Gains on transfer of units of the Scheme

Gains arising on transfer of units of the Scheme are taxable in the hands of the investors. The Indian income tax implications shall depend on the characterisation of gains either as business income or capital gains in the hands of the investors. Accordingly, the tax rates mentioned above for capital gains and business income should continue to apply in such case.

➤ Exit from the Scheme

The trustee intends to discharge the applicable taxes on any income arising on disposal of portfolio investments as a representative assessee of Beneficiaries. It may be argued that once the trustee has discharged the tax liability on such income, there may not be any further tax liability in the hands of Beneficiary on exit from the Scheme for the purpose of distribution of such proceeds. However, there is a risk that arguably exit from the Scheme may be treated as a separate taxable transfer. In such an event, the Beneficiaries may be subject to tax on such exit in addition to the tax liability discharged by the trustee.

In case, Scheme is regarded as indeterminate trust or the status of beneficiaries are not known, the Scheme shall discharge the tax at MMR.

➤ Capital losses

In terms of section 70 read with section 74 of the IT Act, short-term capital loss arising during a year can be set-off against short-term as well as long-term capital gains. Balance loss, if any, can be carried forward for subsequent eight assessment years.

A long-term capital loss arising during a year is allowed to be set-off only against long-term capital gains. Balance loss, if any, is carried forward and set-off against long-term capital gains arising during the subsequent eight assessment years.

➤ Surcharge

In the case of individuals / Hindu undivided family / association of persons / body of individuals:

- If total income does not exceed INR 0.5 crore - NIL
- If total income exceeds INR 0.5 crore but does not exceeds INR 1 crore - 10%
- If total income exceeds INR 1 crore but does not exceed INR 2 crore - 15%
- If total income exceeds INR 2 crore but does not exceed INR 5 crore - 25%
- If total income exceeds INR 5 crore - 37%

However, in the case where the total income includes any income by way of dividend or income referred to in Section 111A, 112 or Section 112A of the IT Act, surcharge on such income shall not exceed 15%.

Further, in case of an association of persons consisting of only companies as its members, the rate of surcharge on the amount of income-tax shall not exceed 15%.

As per the IT Act, the rates provided under the sub-section (1A) of section 115BAC of the IT Act shall be applicable for Individual / HUF / AOP (other than co-operative society) / BOI / AJP unless an option is exercised under the sub-section (6) of section 115BAC to opt out of the regime. Further, the option of opting back to the regime under sub-section (1A) of section 115BAC can be exercised only once by a taxpayer earning income from business or profession. However, a person not having income from business or profession shall be able to exercise this option every year. Under this new regime, the rate of surcharge shall be capped at 25% (instead of 37%).

In the case of domestic companies:

- If total income does not exceed INR 1 crore - NIL
- If total income exceeds INR 1 crore but does not exceed INR 10 crore - 7%
- If total income exceeds INR 10 crore - 12%

In the case of foreign companies:

- If total income does not exceed INR 1 crore - NIL
- If total income exceeds INR 1 crore but does not exceed INR 10 crore - 2%
- If total income exceeds INR 10 crore - 5%

Considering that in the present case the Scheme is open ended scheme, the trustee or the Scheme may decide to discharge taxes on all incomes (except long-term capital gains) at MMR (i.e., 30% plus applicable higher surcharge of 37% and cess of 4%) irrespective of the status of underlying resident investors. In case of long-term capital gains and dividend income, surcharge shall be restricted to 15%.

➤ Health and education cess

4% on income-tax and surcharge, applicable to all assessees.

➤ Goods and Service Tax

GST is not applicable on services received by a unit in IFSC and also on services provided to IFSC/ SEZ units. As management fees will be paid by the Scheme to the FME set-up as a unit in the IFSC, the same should not be subject to GST.

However, in case where services procured by the unit in IFSC does not satisfy certain conditions laid down under the GST law, the benefit of the exemption would not be available, and the GST charged will become a cost.

➤ Elimination of double taxation

The Scheme may be subject to taxes in the overseas jurisdiction. Further, under the IT Act, there are provisions which permit credit of such taxes (discharged outside India) while computing the tax liability on such overseas income in India. Further, the tax treaties may also provide for provisions for elimination of double taxation, if applicable.

Given that the Scheme is a trust with resident beneficiaries, availability of benefit under the tax treaties and availability of credit of taxes paid outside India will have to be evaluated based on facts of the case.

➤ General Anti-avoidance Rule (“GAAR”)

The GAAR regime as introduced in the IT Act is effective from April 1, 2017. GAAR may be invoked by the tax authorities in case arrangements are found to be impermissible avoidance arrangements. A transaction can be declared as an impermissible avoidance arrangement, if the main purpose of the arrangement is to obtain a tax benefit and which satisfies one of the four below mentioned tainted elements:

- The arrangement creates rights or obligations which are ordinarily not created between parties dealing at arm's-length;
- It results in directly / indirectly misuse or abuse of the IT Act;
- It lacks commercial substance or is deemed to lack commercial substance in whole or in part; or
- It is entered into, or carried out, by means, or in a manner, which is not normally employed for bona fide purposes.

In such cases, the tax authorities are empowered to reallocate the income from such arrangement, or recharacterise or disregard the arrangement. Some of the illustrative powers are:

- Disregarding or combining or recharacterising any step in, or a part or whole of the arrangement;
- Ignoring the arrangement for the purpose of taxation law;
- Relocating place of residence of a party, or location of a transaction or situation of an asset to a place other than provided in the arrangement;
- Looking through the arrangement by disregarding any corporate structure;
- Reallocating and re-characterizing equity into debt, capital into revenue, etc.;
- Disregarding or treating any accommodating party and other party as one and the same person; and
- Deeming persons who are connected to each other parties to be considered as one and the same person for the purposes of determining tax treatment of any amount.

The GAAR provisions override the provisions of a Tax Treaty in cases where GAAR is invoked. The necessary procedures for application of GAAR and conditions under which it does not apply, have been enumerated in Rules 10U to 10UC of the Rules. The Rules provide that GAAR should not be invoked unless the tax benefit in the relevant year does not exceed INR 3 crores.

On 27 January 2017, the CBDT issued clarifications on implementation of GAAR provisions in response to various queries received from the stakeholders and industry associations. Some of the important clarifications issued are as under:

- Where tax avoidance is sufficiently addressed by the Limitation of Benefit Clause (‘LOB’) in a Tax Treaty, GAAR should not be invoked.
- GAAR should not be invoked merely on the ground that the entity is located in a tax efficient jurisdiction.
- GAAR is with respect to an arrangement or part of the arrangement and limit of INR 3 crores cannot be read in respect of a single taxpayer only.

➤ Multilateral Convention to implement Tax Treaty related measures to prevent Base Erosion and Profit Shifting (“MLI”)

The Organisation of Economic Co-operation and Development ('OECD') released the Multilateral Convention to implement Tax Treaty related measures to prevent Base Erosion and Profit Shifting.

MLI is an agreement negotiated under Action 15 of the OECD/G20 BEPS Project. As opposed to bilateral Double Taxation Avoidance Agreements, the MLI is intended to allow jurisdictions to swiftly amend their tax treaties to include the Tax Treaty-related BEPS recommendations in multiple Tax Treaties. MLI seeks to curb tax planning strategies that have the effect of shifting profits to low or no tax jurisdictions, supplements or modifies existing tax treaties etc.

The final impact of the MLI on a Tax Treaty is dependent on both the contracting states to the Tax Treaty having deposited their respective instruments of ratification with their final MLI Positions with the OECD Depository. The MLI includes both mandatory provisions (i.e. the minimum standards under the BEPS Project) as well as non-mandatory provisions.

India has been an active participant in the entire discussion and its involvement in the BEPS project has been intensive. In a ceremony held in Paris on 7 June 2017, various countries including India, signed the MLIs. The Union Cabinet of India issued a press release dated 12 June 2019, approving the ratification of the MLI to implement Tax Treaty related measures to prevent BEPS. The application of MLI to a Tax Treaty is dependent on ratification as well as positions adopted by both the countries signing a Tax Treaty. On June 25, 2019, India has taken the final step for implementation of MLI by depositing its instrument of ratification with the OECD. The MLI entered into force from 1 October 2019 and operational with effect from the financial year beginning from 1 April 2020 in respect of certain treaties signed by India.

MLI provisions may need to be evaluated where any benefits under the tax treaty are intended to be claimed by the Scheme and/ or the investors.
